

POLICY ON STANDARDS OF CONDUCT FOR TEACHER/LEARNER RELATIONSHIPS

UMKC School of Medicine (SOM) is a community of professionals dedicated to education, patient care, and research. The SOM holds in high regard professional behaviors and attitudes, including altruism, integrity, respect for others and a commitment to excellence. The SOM community is committed to maintaining academic and clinical environments in which faculty, fellows, residents, students and staff can work together to further education and research, while providing the highest quality of ethical and compassionate care for patients at affiliated hospitals and clinics. As effective learning is best fostered in an environment of mutual respect between teachers and learners, mutual respect is expected; each member within the SOM community must be accepted as an individual and treated with respect and fairness. Diversity in background, outlook and interest is inherent, necessary and important in medical education and the practice of medicine. Although both teachers and learners bear responsibility for creating and maintaining these academic and clinical environments, teachers take on particular responsibility with respect to their evaluative roles relative to student work and with respect to demonstrating appropriate professional behaviors.

The term “teacher” is used broadly to include peers, GME trainees, full-time and volunteer faculty members, clinical preceptors, nurses, and ancillary support staff, as well as others from whom students learn. Graduate medical education trainees, of special note, are also “students” at the UMKC SOM.

GUIDING PRINCIPLES:

Duty: Medical educators/teachers have a duty to convey the knowledge and skills required for delivering the Medical profession’s standard of care and also to instill the values and attitudes required for preserving the medical professionals social contract with its patients.

Integrity: Learning environments that are conducive to conveying professional values must be based on integrity. Students and residents learn professionalism by observing and emulating role models who epitomize authentic professional values and attitudes.

Respect: Respect for every individual is fundamental to the ethics of medicine. Mutual respect is essential for nurturing that ethic. Teachers have a special obligation to ensure students and residents are always treated respectfully.

RESPONSIBILITIES AND CONDUCT OF TEACHERS AND LEARNERS:

Teachers should:

- Treat students fairly and respectfully
- Maintain high professional standards in all interactions
- Be prepared and on time
- Provide relevant information in a timely fashion
- Provide explicit learning and behavioral expectations early in a course or clerkship
- Provide timely, focused, accurate and constructive formative feedback on a regular basis and thoughtful and timely evaluations at the end of a course or clerkship

- Display honesty, integrity and compassion
- Practice insightful (Socratic) questioning, which stimulates learning and self-discovery, and avoid overly aggressive questioning which may be perceived as hurtful, humiliating, degrading or punitive

- Solicit feedback from students regarding their perception of their educational experiences
- Encourage students who experience mistreatment or who witness unprofessional behavior to report the facts immediately

Students should:

- Treat fellow students and faculty fairly and respectfully
- Demonstrate professional behavior in all settings
- Be prepared and on time
- Demonstrate honesty, integrity and compassion
- Be active, enthusiastic, curious learners
- Recognize learning stems beyond formal and structured activities and requires responsibility and commitment
- Recognize their responsibility to learn established learning objectives and to participate as an active learner
- Demonstrate a commitment to life-long learning, a practice that is essential to the profession of medicine
- Recognize personal limitations and seek help as needed
- Recognize the privileges and responsibilities coming from the opportunity to work with patients in clinical settings
- Recognize the duty to place patient welfare above their own concerns
- Recognize and respect patients' rights to privacy
- Solicit feedback on their performance and recognize criticism is not synonymous with "abuse"

Relationships between Teachers and Students

Students and teachers should recognize the special nature of the teacher-learner relationship, which is in part defined by professional role modeling, mentorship, and supervision. Because of the special nature of this relationship, students and teachers should strive to develop their relationship as one characterized by mutual trust, acceptance, and confidence and limited to that of education and mentoring. They should both recognize the potential for conflict of interest and respect appropriate boundaries.

Conduct/Responsibilities of Teachers and Learners:

- Treat each other with respect at all times
- Treat each other equally, without regard for age, sex, gender, race, color, ethnicity, national origin, ancestry, religion, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, military or veteran status
- Act fairly in all dealings with each other

- Communicate with each other in a respectful and professional manner at all times
- Be prompt to appointments, classes and lectures

Inappropriate Conduct:

- Unwanted physical contact or the threat of such contact; loss of civility or professionalism, including displays of temper, demeaning or humiliating behavior to another, the use of personal threats, attacks or insults, or any other conduct that is disruptive to patient care and/or learning
- Sexual harassment (including voluntary romantic relationships between teachers and learners in which the teacher has authority over the learner's academic status and progress)
- Harassment based on age, sex, gender, race, color, ethnicity, national origin, ancestry, religion, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, military or veteran status
- Discrimination in any form based on age, sex, gender, race, color, ethnicity, national origin, ancestry, religion, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, military or veteran status
- Asking others to perform personal errands unrelated to education, research or patient care activities
- Providing health and/or psychiatric or psychological services to any learner for which a teacher has involvement in the academic assessment or in decisions about the promotion of that learner, except in an emergency situation.

REPORTING INAPPROPRIATE CONDUCT OR MISTREATMENT

- The general process and procedures for learners and teachers is outlined below. This policy provides guidelines for the learner and teacher to address the issue, including some initial resources to consider. The underlying concern is for the comfort of the individual raising the concern. The SOM will not tolerate any form of retaliatory conduct by or toward teachers or learners who report inappropriate conduct in good faith. Individuals who believe that retaliatory action has been taken against them as a result of reporting or raising concerns regarding inappropriate conduct, may report such action through the procedures set forth herein.
- In addition to the SOM process for reporting, learners and teachers may report concerns within the University. This includes contacting the Equity and Title IX office (ETIX) Coordinator at (816) 235-6910 and/or to the University's Ethics and Compliance Reporting Line either online at <https://www.compliance-helpline.com/UM.jsp> or by calling 1-866-447-9821 (reports to the Ethics and Compliance Reporting Line may be made anonymously). Additionally, UMKC Human Resources or University administrators could be contacted to raise a concern.
- Learners may file a Student Mistreatment report with the link found on the UMKC website <https://med.umkc.edu/mistreatment/>. A report may also be filed by imaging the QR code found on the Expect Respect posters available throughout the medical school and in medical education areas of affiliate hospitals. Learners are also directed that they may report their concern to the Associate Dean for the Learning Environment.

Reporting by Learners (Students):

- Learners may report the inappropriate conduct of another through a variety of mechanisms. First and foremost, learners (only if comfortable doing so) may address the situation immediately and nonconfrontationally with the person engaging in such conduct. If the learner is not comfortable raising the matter with the person engaging in the conduct, or the conduct continues, the learner may discuss the issue with course directors, program directors, department chairs, the student's education team coordinator (ETC), the student's docent or the Associate Dean of Student Affairs, Assistant Dean for Graduate Health Professions in Medicine, or the Associate Dean for the Clinical Affiliate.
- If the issue cannot be addressed/resolved in this manner and/or if the issue is deemed to represent a significant violation of the responsibilities/conduct described in this policy, the student and/or the individual the student confided in should report the incident to the Associate Dean for the Learning Environment . Confidentiality of the student will be maintained to the extent possible according to the situation. The learner may also file a mistreatment report online (<https://med.umkc.edu/mistreatment/>) which will subsequently be reviewed by the Expect Respect Committee (ERC)

Reporting by Learners (Residents/Fellows):

- Residents/fellows must promptly report to the office of ETIX any and all conduct that may be listed under Inappropriate Conduct, whether directly witnessed, received as a disclosure from a student or employee, or learned through a third party (rumors, etc.) per the Mandated Reporter requirements.
- Each UMKC graduate medical education program sponsored by the SOM has a working and learning environment policy that should be followed.
- Additionally, the Graduate Medical Education Resident/Fellow Working and Learning Environment Policy describes the methods and procedures for residents/fellows to report concerns at: http://med.umkc.edu/docs/gme/policy_pdfs/GME_Working_Environment.pdf

If the issue cannot be addressed/resolved in this manner and/or if the issue is deemed to represent a significant violation of the responsibilities/conduct described in this policy, the resident/fellow and/or the individual that the student confided in should report the incident to the Associate Dean for the Graduate Medical Education. Confidentiality of the resident/fellow will be maintained to the extent possible by the situation. The learner (Resident/fellow) may also file a mistreatment report online at (<https://med.umkc.edu/mistreatment/>) which will subsequently be reviewed by the ERC.

Reporting by Teachers:

- Teachers must promptly report to the Office of ETIX any and all conduct that may be listed under Inappropriate Conduct, whether directly witnessed, received as a disclosure from a student or employee, or learned through a third party (rumors, etc.) per the Mandated Reporter requirements.
- Teachers who feel that a learner or teacher has engaged in inappropriate behavior may address the situation immediately with that learner or teacher. Additionally, for student concerns, the teacher can report the concern to the course/clerkship director, Associate Dean for Student Affairs, or Assistant Dean for Graduate Health Professions in Medicine. For resident concerns, the teacher can report to the program director or Associate Dean for Graduate Medical Education for investigation. For teacher concerns, the faculty member can report to the Academic Department Chair and/or the Associate Dean for the Clinical Affiliates for investigation.

- If the issue cannot be addressed/resolved in this manner and/or if the issue is deemed to represent a significant violation of the responsibilities/conduct described in this policy, the teacher should contact the Associate Dean for the Learning Environment. Confidentiality of the teacher will be maintained to the extent possible based on the situation. The teacher may also file a mistreatment report online at (<https://med.umkc.edu/mistreatment/>) which will subsequently be reviewed by the ERC.
