

Doing their part in the pandemic

Dozens of School of Medicine students helped make COVID-19 testing sites possible across Kansas City, and other students helped with everything from harvesting and distributing food from community gardens to tutoring public school students coping with online classes to providing child care for health care workers.

Dean's update

How we're staying focused on educating our students amid the pandemic.

Here's the latest

A rewarding career

David Glover, MD '78, has made a difference in sports medicine and his town.

Alumni spotlight

Expanding mission

New program in St. Joseph, Missouri, will boost rural medicine.

The collaboration

Marking milestones

Graduation celebrations moved online, as will this fall's White Coat ceremony.

Making memories

Championship care

Alumni sports physicians reflect on their roles in Chiefs' and Blues' victories.

Winning careers

Docent mentoring

Faith Mueller wants to make a difference in women's global health.

Dynamic duo

In memoriam

Elizabeth Dang, M.D. '93, cardiologist and former Navy flight surgeon, has passed away.

Her obituary